FINANCE AND TRADE.

Business Awaiting the Development of Retail Trade.

SOME ENCOURAGING FEATURES.

While the Most Marked Improvement Is Shown in the West and South, the Ending of the Great Cotton Mill Strike Improves the Situation East.

NEW YORK Oct 13 —R G. Dun & Co's weekly review of trade says: Business is still waiting for the development of retail trade There is a little better demand in some industries but not so good in others Wholesale dealers in nearly all branches are halting because retail business does not yet show distinctly what it is to be Lower prices for the great farm staples, and lower wages in some establishments, hinder purchases for consumption, while political interest and uncertainty also have some retarding influence.

Meanwhile large imports and small exports of merchandise with inadequate employment for money here, are raising the rates of foreign exchange so that possibilities of gold exports somewhat affect the stock market The halting attitude for the moment is disturbing to those who have looked for continued gain, though rightly considered it is the natural consequence of conditions which were to be expected at this season

The government crop reports are not greatly trusted, and yet have an influence, and actually exaggerate the tendency toward lower prices, because they are supposed to put all the crops too low. Men calmly reckon that, if the government repost indicates over 400,000,000 bushels of wheat, the crop must be over 500,000,000 bushels

The iron industry records larger production in September than in any other month this year, but as prices are gradually weakening because of insufficient demand for finished products some works are preparing to close or shorten time.

Failures for the week ending Oct. 4 show liabilities of $1,714,276, of which $805,558 are of manufacturing and $882,261 of trading concerns There have been 231 in the United States against 362 for the same week last year, and 43 in Canada, against 42 last year

Bradstreets' review says: An accentuation of favorable features is revealed in the telegraph reports to Bradstreets this week. While advices as to the most marked improvement come from the west and south, there are some encouraging features also reported from the east, and the net result of the week's business has been further progress in the direction of enlarged distribution In New England, although demand is classed as only moderate and a conservative trade is doing, the industrial situation improves, owing to the ending of the great cotton mill strike Print cloths are weaker as a result of the settlement Australian competition has also weakened raw wool prices

Iron production at present is very large, and this has impaired values of the raw and manufactured product quite noticeably. Cooler weather has improved the distribution in seasonable lines at a number of western and northwestern points

Gross earnings reported to Bradstreets of 138 roads, representing 94,000 miles of road show total earnings for September amounting to $[illegible] a decrease of 5 per cent from September a year ago. Heavy world's fair traffic a year ago explains the loss of roads east of the Mississippi

Murder in the Regular Army.

BUFFALO, Oct 13.—A horrible tragedy growing out of an old feud occurred at Fort Porter yesterday First Sergeant Edward Shuler, of Company A. Thirteenth regiment, was sitting in the barracks of the company looking over some clothing accounts, when Sergeant Marriott, of the same company entered the room and fired at him The wounded man sank down unconscious and was carried away by comrades Marriott was placed under arrest. Shuler s wound will prove fatal

Murderer Garrett Probably Located.

PENNSYLVANIA DEMOCRATS.

Chauncey F. Black Re-elected President of the State Societies.

ALTOONA, Pa, Oct. 13.—The Altoona Opera house was comfortably filled at 12 o'clock yesterday, when the sixth annual general assembly of the Democratic societies of Pennsylvania was called to order by Hon Chauncey F. Black, of York, the president After listening to the address of President Black the usual committees were appointed and the convention adjourned for dinner

On reassembling Senator Green, of Reading was elected permanent president. The resolutions reported by the committee were read and adopted, after which Delegate Peter Hughes, of Philadelphia, expressed his surprise that there was no resolution indorsing the state administration. He then offered an amendment extolling the administration of Governor Pattison It was adopted the chairman of the committee explaining that the omission was unintentional.

The committee on officers of the state societies for the ensuing year reported the following officers: President, Chauncey F. Black of York; secretary, John D. Worman of Philadelphia; treasurer, Robert E. Wright of Allentown; vice presidents, M. S Loughlin, James Heustis, A. H. Ladner, R G Still, Thomas P. Merritt, J. P. Fleming, W J Brennan, W. L Sheppard, E T McNeelis, A M. Holding Robert Saltzman, William Myers, Howard Mutchler, T J Burke and E. D. Reilly. These officers were unanimously elected.

Resolutions were adopted denouncing the A. P. A, condoling with the family of ex-Governor Curtin and conveying greeting and encouragement to Senator David B. Hill and William L. Wilson.

York, Bellefonte, Lock Haven, Erie and Lancaster were named in connection with the next annual convention, but Lancaster was decided upon. The convention then adjourned, with cheers for the state ticket.

A street parade was given in the evening after which a mass meeting was held in the Opera house.

To Revise New Jersey's Game Laws.

TRENTON, Oct. 13.—The state board of fish and game commissioners held a conference at the capitol yesterday regarding the necessity for a revision of the game and fish laws of the state. They are in a muddled condition, and it was determined to have them all repealed at the next session of the legislature. In place of them a general act to cover the whole subject will be passed. Nearly all of the forty-one fish wardens of the state attended the meeting. Hereafter the fish warden making the most arrests in a year, the one securing the most convictions and the one submitting the best yearly report will each receive a gold medal

Judges Appeal to the Czar.

VILNA, Russia, Oct. 13.—The trial of seventy peasants of Krosche, whose resistance to the Cossacks who closed their Catholic church in November last, led to a terrible massacre was concluded yesterday. The majority of the accused were convicted and sentenced to imprisonment for terms ranging from ten years' penal servitude to four months in prison. The court, however, in view of the provocation, and the brutality of the Cossacks, resolved to petition the czar to reduce the ten years' sentence to a year's imprisonment and to pardon the other prisoners.

An Alleged Foreign Contract Laborer.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—John James Howard, who it is claimed came to this country as a contract laborer, having been engaged in England by Hon. Levi P. Morton to enter his employ as a coachman, was taken to Ellis Island yesterday. He was in charge of Prentiss C. Dodge, the immigration inspector of the district of Vermont, who made the arrest It is expected that an effort will be made to have Howard's case brought into court. Otherwise he will be sent back to England on the steamship Paris next Wednesday.

In a State of Siege.

CAPE TOWN, Africa, Oct. 13.—The Portuguese town of Lourenzo Marquez is in a complete state of siege. All the streets on the land side of the town are barricaded to prevent if possible, the entry of the Kaffirs, who are in arms against the Portuguese Guns are mounted at the barricades and a guard is kept by seventeen Portuguese Four hundred soldiers form a cordon from Berea to Rouben Point The town will be at the mercy of the natives if they make an attack.

Fears for a Passenger Steamer.

BALTIMORE, Oct 13 —The North German Lloyd steamer Braunschweig, which sailed from Bremen on Sept. 27, should have arrived at her pier at Locust Point on Tuesday The local agents have heard nothing of the steamer since she sailed from the other side On board the Braunschweig are 142 steerage passengers bound to points in the west She is an old vessel and not very fast, and may have been delayed by the recent heavy weather at sea

Rebecca Wilkinson, of Brownsvalley, Ind., says: "I have been in a distressed condition for three years from nervousness, weakness of the stomach, dyspepsia and indigestion until my health was gone. I had been doctoring constantly with no relief. I bought one bottle of South American Nervine, which did me more good than any $50 worth of doctoring I ever did in my life. I would advise every weakly person to use this valuable and lovely medicine; a few bottles of it have cured me completely. I consider it the grandest medicine in the world." Warranted the most wonderful stomach and nerve cure ever known. Sold by J. E. Mills Middletown, N. Y.

THE OLD OLD STORY.

The Corbett-Fitzsimmons Fight Will Worry Jacksonville for Awhile.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 13.—Unless there shall be a radical change in public sentiment there will be no opposition to the proposed fight here between Corbett and Fitzsimmons. Mr Richardson, one of the principal backers of the Florida Athletic club, is reported to have said that the new club would not have embarked in this scheme if there was any chance of opposition by the governor or hostile legislation at Tallahassee next spring, so the opinion here is that the backers of the club have been given "inside" assurance that they have nothing to fear from the legislature Some surprise is felt at the publication in The Citizen—a paper which took no stand in opposition to the Corbett Mitchell fight when it was pending—of an editorial article as follows.

"Allow us to remark right now that the preliminaries for this so called glove contest may as well be abandoned at once As soon as the legislature of next spring shall have been organized and some member can get the attention of the speaker, we shall have an iron bound anti prize fight law that will cover every phase of this subject There is no mistake about this, and Messrs Corbett and Fitzsimmons may prepare to take their show to some less civilized and more lawless country"

Escaped by a Legal Error.

WASHINGTON, Oct 13 —Robert Isdale, "military prisoner No 45" at the Leavenworth military prison, has had a narrow escape from a remarkably severe sentence He was tried by a court martial for writing letters threatening to kill Colonel Pope, the superintendent of the prison, and for endeavoring to secure the aid of a fellow prisoner in an attempt upon the life of the officer He was convicted and sentenced to be confined at hard labor in a penitentiary for seven years The conviction was all right, but the court made an error in the sentence It might have sentenced the prisoner legally to even ten years in the military prison but not for any time in a penitentiary This fault made the sentence illegal, and the war department disapproved of it which action prevents further proceedings against Isdale on the charge

No Bounty for Sugar Producers.

WASHINGTON Oct 13 —Judge McComas, of the district supreme court, denied the application of the Miles Sugar Manufacturing company, of Louisiana for a mandamus to compel Secretary Carlisle to appoint inspectors to ascertain the sugar production of the company The object of the suit it is understood, was to test the legality of the recent repeal of the sugar bounty provision of the McKinley law and also to lay the foundation for an appeal to congress for payment of bounty for the current year

Howard Loses His Railroad Passes.

CHICAGO, Oct 13 —Vice President Howard of the A R U, who was Debs' prime minister in the great railway strike, shocked labor circles yesterday by reporting to the police the loss of about twenty railway passes Mr Howard was the victim of a pickpocket and after the operation reported at police headquarters that a score of annual and trip passes and other railway transportation over many prominent roads had been stolen

Fire Panic in a Tenement.

NEW YORK, Oct 13 —A slight fire in the basement of the Anna flats, on Seventh avenue caused great excitement Eight families who lived in the house became panic stricken, and fought fiercely on the stairs and in the hall to reach the street Four people escaped by a rear fire escape, a fifth falling off the escape and fracturing his skull Ten of the people in the house got on the roof and from thence to the adjoining houses to the street

A Bomb Outrage Prevented.

BIRMINGHAM, England, Oct 13 —A glass tube filled with gunpowder and bullets, charged with chlorate of potash and having a lighted fuse attached to it, was discovered outside the Metropolitan bank, at Walsall, a town eight miles from this city The fuse was extinguished before an explosion could occur Walsall was the scene of the anarchistic prosecutions which occurred in the beginning of 1892

The Chauvin Inquest.

DETROIT, Oct 13 —The inquest on the body of the murdered hermit, Charles B Chauvin, was resumed today The sensational feature of the case is the fact that one of the nephews and heirs to the large fortune of the dead man had sold his interest in the estate amounting to $125,000, for something like $2,000 He was arrested charged with the crime, but has since been released

An Old Woman Charged with Murder.

THE DEMANDS OF JAPAN

Sweeping Claims of a Japanese Newspaper.

MUST RENDER CHINA POWERLESS.

The Exaction of Indemnity Would Not Suit Japan's Interest, but She Should Occupy Shanghai, Collect Customs Duties, and Civilize the Celestials.

WASHINGTON, Oct 13 —The kind of indemnity which Japan is urged in some quarters to exact from China is shown by the Japan Daily Herald received at the Japanese legation yesterday It says:

"There is talk for the demand of a large sum of money and also for the cession of territory from the Middle kingdom But we must take into consideration whether they serve to effect our purpose to crush her fighting power, and render her powerless for a period of at least forty to fifty years The ceding of Manchuria or Formosa to us may no doubt be very good, but this would not diminish her power to carry on war in proportion to our trouble to rule these provinces Likewise, the execution of an indemnity would not suit Japan's interest"

The paper suggests an expedient which would entirely prove beneficial to Japan. This is the taking of the Nanyang, Peiyong, Canton and Fukien squadrons of Chinese men-of-war, which could be employed for fighting purposes, with the addition of the whole of the vessels of the China Merchants' Steamship Navigation company In the event that this is not sufficient Shanghai should be occupied, the Japanese receiving the custom duties of that port Japan should thus not lose this opportunity to enlarge her power on the sea.

The article concludes: "Shanghai will be the most advantageous place for upholding our influence in the east and checking the western current The town is also a most convenient station by which to introduce into China the elements of civilization, whereas the receipts from the customs dues of that port might be expended with this view

Japan Cannot Annex Corea.

ST PETERSBURG, Oct 13 —It is semi-officially announced here that Great Britain is doing her best to induce the powers to join in an attempt to secure a cessation of the war between China and Japan. It is considered certain that Russia will not permit Japan to permanently occupy Corea In this Russia is sustained by Great Britain and the other powers are not sufficiently interested to do otherwise than acquiesce

China Sues for Peace.

SHANGHAI, Oct 13 —A rumor is current here that the Chinese government has commenced negotiations with Japan for peace China, it is said, has offered to acknowledge the independence of Corea and to pay a war indemnity to Japan

Ex-President Harrison's Campaign Tour.

EVANSVILLE, Ind, Oct 13 —General Harrison spoke to 5,000 people in the Evansville Opera house last evening, and twice that number were unable to gain admittance It was the concluding address in a series of fourteen beginning early in the forenoon at Clayton, and running down the state through Plainfield, Brazil, Greencastle, Sullivan Terre Haute, Vincennes and Princeton The smallest gathering was at Plainfield the largest at Evansville, but the enthusiasm was as great at the former place as at the latter, and while Terre Haute turned out 10,000 people to greet the ex president, the 10,000 were not one bit more cordial in their greeting than were the residents of country hamlets along the line who turned out to cheer as the train flew by General Harrison was in the best form He left Evansville early this morning for Franklin and intermediate stations

Murdered in a Drunken Riot.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 13 —In a drunken riot at Maltby last night John Mirolski, a Hungarian aged 17 years, was killed and Jack Jenkins fatally injured. Two stray shots found their way to the opposite side of the street and hit Miss Bayard and another woman, whose name could not be learned Their wounds are not serious. A Slav did the shooting The fire was returned by several other men, all of whom fled in the direction of Sugar Notch, followed by a posse of constables.

UNCLE SAM'S PENSIONERS.

An Interesting Report for Veterans of the Late War.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—The report of Commissioner of Pensioners Lochren for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894, has been submitted to the secretary of the interior, and the following abstract has been given for publication:

The report states that the number of pensioners on the rolls June 30, 1893, was 966,012; that during the year 39,084 new pensioners were added to the rolls, 37,951 were dropped for death and other causes and 2,398 previously dropped were restored to the rolls The number of pensioners on the rolls on June 30, 1894, was 969,544. The number of pension certificates issued during the year was 80,123, and 132,873 claims of all classes were rejected

On July 1, 1894, there were undisposed of and in different stages of preparation and advancement claims for pension and for increase to the amount of $619,027, of which 257,209 claims, originals, widows and dependents, are on behalf of persons not already on the rolls These claims, save some recently filed, have been examined more than once and found lacking in essential evidence. They are the same cases that have come down through the past years

The amount paid for pensions during the year was $139,804,461, leaving a balance in the treasury of $25,205,713 of the appropriation Much dishonesty and fraud, mainly attributable to unscrupulous claim agents, was uncovered, and there were 194 convictions in the United States courts within the year for pension frauds, perjury and forgeries.

A Cancerous Family.

ST PETERSBURG, Oct. 13.—Rumors still circulate in St Petersburg medical circles that the czar is suffering from a cancerous disease of the kidneys It is pointed out that cancer has been hereditary in the Romanoff family since the time of Empress Alexandria, consort of Emperor Nicholas Queen Louisa, the late Emperor William's mother, died from cancer, also her daughter, Empress Alexandra, whose daughter, Marie Nikolaiona, consort of the Grand Duke of Luchtenburg, and the youngest son of Grand Duke Nokali Nikolaswitch, both died from cancer, while it is believed that the youngest daughter of Queen Olga of Wurtemburg died from the same disease.

Sherman in the Ohio Campaign.

AKRON, O., Oct 13 —The campaign in this city was formally opened last night by Hon John Sherman, who arrived here from Mansfield shortly after noon At 3 o'clock he was tendered a reception at the Citizens' club rooms At 7:15 he was escorted to Assembly hall The great hall, seating nearly 1,600, was jammed Hundreds stood up and other hundreds were turned away As Senator Sherman rose he was given such a reception as a speaker seldom receives The speech was a profound and interesting discussion of the tariff bill and money problems

Embezzler Adams Held for Trial.

The Cardinal Made No Mistake.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 13.—A clergyman of Cardinal Gibbons' household said to a reporter that the Grecian ruler and his wife referred to in last Sunday's sermon on "The Devotion of Rosary," in which he incidentally spoke against woman suffrage, was Themistocles and wife, and not Pericles and Aspasia, as Dr Julia Holmes Smith, of Chicago, and other critics evidently understood the matter.

Two Killed in a Freight Wreck.

BALTIMORE, Oct 13 —In a freight wreck on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad at Cathers' siding J H Hosfros, a brakeman of Baltimore, and A. F. BOLD TRAIN ROBBERS

Make a Big Haul on the Southern Pacific Railroad.

STOLE FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS.

The Money Was in Gold Coin, and the Engineer and Fireman Were Compelled to Carry It to the Engine, on Which the Robbers Escaped.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Oct. 13 —The train robbery which occurred about seven miles beyond Davisville, at a crossing known as Sheep Camp, was a daring crime. Four sacks of coin were secured from the express car, and Messenger Jack Paige barely escaped with his life. The loot amounted to $50,000. Engineer Bill Scott and his fireman were forced at the muzzle of a revolver to carry coin sacks from the express car to the engine. There the robbers uncoupled the engine and rode off with their booty.

It was a well planned and skillfully executed robbery. The robbers waylaid the track walker on his tricycle about 9 o'clock, tied him hand and foot, stole $5.50 and left him helpless at the side of the track. With the track walker's lantern the robbers signaled No. 3 to stop Scott slowed up, but did not come to a full stop until the explosion of dynamite bombs under the engine warned him that it was useless to proceed further. By this time the two robbers were on the engine They sprang on from opposite sides of the track, and began shooting at once. The passengers and train hands say quite a number of shots were fired before anybody knew what it was all about.

The robbers made the engineer and fireman dismount, and walked them back with rifles at their heads to the rear of the express car, where the victims were ordered to uncouple the train. This was done speedily, and before the expressman, mail clerk or any of the train hands knew what was going on the engine was speeding ahead and drawing only the two forward mail cars and Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express car. They went ahead about five miles, with the robbers, the engineer and fireman on the engine. The rest of the train remained at Sheep Camp, in imminent peril of being telescoped by the Oregon train in the rear. When the captured cars were halted Engineer Scott and the fireman were marched back to the express car, where the robbers made a demand on Messenger Paige to open his door. He refused.

"We'll shoot the engineer and fireman if you don't open in a hurry," said one of the robbers, while the other masked man held two dynamite bombs up to view in the clear moonlight and threatened to blow the express car to pieces unless it was opened at once. Still Paige hesitated, and some shots were fired through the glass door at him, one of which grazed his temple. Then the engineer called out to Paige to open the door.

"We're covered with guns and they will kill us if you don't open," said Scott. Still Paige desisted and began to fire through the door; but his aim was wild, and again Scott in fear of his life, called on the messenger to open, saying that the robbers would surely blow him up unless he gave up. The messenger finally opened the door.

One robber then covered the messenger and engineer and fireman with his rifle, while the other searched for coin He found three sacks.

The bandits secured over $50,000 They seem to have eluded the officers and escaped with their plunder, which was nearly all in gold coin, and consequently a heavy burden.

The engineer and fireman were made to carry the booty to the engine and deposit it where directed. The robbers mounted the engine and rode off, leaving the engineer and fireman behind. They went down the road towards Sacramento, and then they reversed the lever and sent it back to the stalled train. Luckily the steam was low, and when the locomotive came in contact with the forward mail car but little damage was done.

Train No. 10, the Oregon express, came along and pushed the three detached sections of train No. 3 together and then into Sacramento.

In speaking of the affair after his arrival here Messenger Paige said: "I was about out of ammunition, and Scott was so badly frightened that I opened the door then to save his life. I am sure they would have killed him if I had held back a moment longer."

Beyond the mere supposition that the bandits are railway men who have been in the employ of the Southern Pacific, and the supposition is based only on their apparent familiarity with railway methods and their ability to successfully handle a locomotive, the pursuing officials have little to work on. The Southern Pacific has issued a circular offering a reward of $10,000 for the arrest of the two robbers and the recovery of the plunder.

TRAIN ROBBERS IN VIRGINIA.

Here, Too, It Is Said, the Robbers Secured Fifty Thousand Dollars.

RICHMOND, Va, Oct 13 —The northern bound passenger train on the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac railroad, which left here at 7 o'clock last night, was held up near Quantico The engineer and fireman were forced from their engine and the engine was cut loose and sent ahead. The express car was then entered, the messengers covered with pistols and the safe robbed The runaway locomotive was stopped at Quantico by obstructing the track

It is stated here that there was an unusually large amount of money on the train, probably $50,000, all of which was taken The robbers, seven in number were masked and did not blow open the safe as at first reported They forced the messenger to open it The railroad company has offered a large reward for the arrest of any of the robbers

ROBBED BY THEIR GUESTS.

Hotel Keepers Complain of the Continual Theft of Small Articles.

It is a fact well known to every hotel and restaurant keeper in the city that people will steal. Why they resort to peculation is a mystery, but a far greater mystery seems to be wrapped up in the class of articles that are stolen.

Guests who stop at first class hotels and pay their bills in departing have been known scores of times to take with them toilet soap and towels from their rooms. Blankets, sheets, clocks and ornaments likewise disappear with the departing transients.

Nor does the peculation stop at this. Cheap plated trays, cutlery, forks and spoons plainly marked with the names of the hotels are stolen again and again. This seems strange, for if the articles are used by the thief they bear, of course, the indelible evidence of the guilt of the peculators.

Sometimes the stolen articles are recovered, and sometimes they are not. Only recently the proprietor of a local hotel advertised repeatedly and offered a large reward for the return of a valuable clock of large size, which had been taken from the hotel and in a manner never discovered. All the advertising was in vain.

The late John Hoey once succeeded by a shrewdly worded letter in recovering a valuable rug which a well known New York woman had taken with her. As soon as its absence was noted from the Hollywood Mr. Hoey caused to be written to the woman a letter which read substantially as follows:

"DEAR MADAM—In packing your clothing your maid by mistake included the Turkish rug which was in your room. Kindly have it returned."

The woman had no maid, which fact was well known to herself and to Mr. Hoey. The assumption that the theft was not hers accorded her an opportunity to return the stolen article, which she did at the earliest possible moment, sending with it at the same time a note apologizing for the stupidity of the "maid."—New York Herald.

Pressure Sustained by Divers.

Have you any idea of the enormous pressure sustained by submarine divers while plying their dangerous vocations? We will take 100 feet as the average dep that which such tradesmen work and use that as a basis of calculation. At a depth of 100 feet, which does not seem excessive when we consider the fact that there are spots in the oceans which are approximately five miles deep, the pressure on the diver's body is 44 pounds for each square inch of surface. Let us see what this means. The average man of 156 pounds has a body of sufficient proportions to present 12 square feet of surface to the pressure of the waters. This means that the ordinary diver must work in a place where his body is subjected to a pressure of 38 tons. Nor is this all. For every 27¼ inches of depth descended below the 100 foot line which we have adopted as a basis of calculation there must be added one pound pressure to each square inch of the diver's bodily surface. Persons who think that divers regularly descend to the bottom of the oceans in the deepest places will probably be surprised to learn that the greatest depth to which man has as yet attained is only 210 feet.—St. Louis Republic.

How to Whiten the Whiskers.

A farmer in Bucks county, with black hair and mustache and a three days' growth of snow white whiskers, dropped into a Ninth street barber shop, and in the course of conversation with the loquacious artist it appeared that the farmer had for years shaved himself with a jackknife. He thought that perhaps that had something to do with the peculiar hirsute contrast, and the barber promptly confirmed his opinion. "The pulling of a dull razor on the roots of the whiskers," said the barber, "destroys in a short time all the oil and pigment that gives color. Most men have too much regard for their nerves to keep it up long enough to turn the beard entirely white, but many partially gray ones are due to that cause. A keen blade improperly handled is equally harmful, as a close scrape of the skin results in numberless seed warts, which can only be removed by a surgical operation."—Philadelphia Record.

Marriage In High Life.

"So your sister is married?"

"Yes, and she did very well—splendidly. You have heard of the Duke of Westminster?"

"Oh, yes! Did she marry into that family?"

"Well, yes, so to speak. She married a nephew of the Duke of Westminster's chief cook. He's the driver of a bus."—Glasgow Herald.

MR. WILSON TALKS.

MY Name is Wilson; I do an insurance business on LaSalle street, in Chicago Ill., and I live in Evanston, Ill. Evanston is what was originally a scattering population on a pretty point on Lake Michigan, esteemed years ago far from the city of Chicago, but now one of the varied towns which may go within it by vote of the population.

I am married and have a wife and one child. That child is a boy (I suppose I should feel the same solicitude if it was a girl), and I have a father's natural fancies as to what must be the best thing to give that child the right kind of intelligence, and so divert his course that he may succeed in life. I have studied a great deal upon the subject. My own experience would not be of great value, because I have succeeded only to the limit of the average man and am barely established; still, I own the house and lot upon which I live, and am feeling perfectly safe in meeting the exigencies of the year. I want the boy to take a broader view than I did, to be a bigger man in the world. I have studied how to teach him to do that, and he has done pretty well, as far as the preliminaries go. Now, I have thought over what I should say to him and have sometimes been puzzled. I could not very well tell him what to do. I wanted to tell him what I needed but what I did not learn myself when I was of his age, and what my father did not know how to tell me, or else was not thoughtful enough to do so. I wanted to tell him how to follow the example of those who have succeeded at the present time and under the circumstances which ordinarily affect a young man struggling in this Republic established on this comparatively new world to-day. I wanted to tell him just what he had better do to get along well, and to point out to him what had been done by the people who were successful at the present time.

Of course, the record of the people of any time past would not be of so much value, because circumstances must necessarily have been different when they were alive. I feel confident, though, that if I could learn, some way and somehow, what the people who are so successful to day have done and how they did it, I could give to my boy such advice as would make his own life at least as far removed from failure as justified by the natural ability he may possess,

I looked around for some authority which I might consult in order to give him the facts most essential with this idea of mine in mind, but I could find none until I discovered that a great publishing firm in Chicago had decided to bring out a book giving the photographs of all the people who are prominent in America to-day. Here was what I wanted. The book, as I have learned, is going to be published in 16 parts, 16 pages to each, with a recent photograph on each page of some active leading American man or woman of to-day, while underneath appears the story of that same person's life—the story telling what that person did, and how the ends attained were eventually accomplished. Here was what I wanted; here was what I needed in various ways; here was what I was certainly seeking in order to obtain the information with which to educate my boy ank secure for him that knowledge which will give him a source of thought and make him prominent in the world.

I have the first sheets of this work. It is a graphic story of America's Greatest Men and Women, told in each instance on a single page underneath a photograph of recent date, which conveys to the eye an idea of what that person is. To me the photograph tells even more than the suggestive record beneath; and yet it is odd how in each instance the correct story corresponds with the expression upon the face which is reproduced in the portrait above. I do not know how the series will end. I know very little about this new feature of the newspaper people; I know nothing about the publishers and their expectations, but I do know this: that if the series so begun should be continued to its practical, ordinary good sense end—and I don't care whether that will include 200 or 700 of America's Greatest Men and Women, which is the title of the book—I do know this, that for the ordinary, active and alert business man—I will certainly say far more for the student or the literary man, or the politician or the statesman—for all these I will say it will be simply the most valuable and the most remarkable book produced in modern history The wonder is that some one has not thought of it before. Yet no one seems to have done so since the days of Plutarch. Plutarch knew something. That shrewd old fellow knew that all who would get out of the drift, all who would accomplish great things, wanted to know every detail of the lives of those who had better luck or more courage or a broader brain than their fellows; but I am no authority on these points. I only know that there is produced a second Plutarch's Lives, that its biographies are shrewd, graphic and curt, and written without bias and without prejudice. I only know that there was a Plutarch—God bless the old fellow—and that there is this modern work.

This is the work I am going to give to my boy. I am going to make him read it thoroughly. The work is announced as consisting of 16 Parts, with 16 pages and 16 photographs in each part, and when bound, the whole series will make a great volume of 256 pages, the like of which has never been equaled. It is the story of the personal character of the men and women who are making the nation's history at this particular time. What a work this is! Do you imagine that I would miss it for my boy, or, incidentally, for myself?

SELLING UNCLE RASTUS.

A Pathetic Family Reconciliation at the Auctioneer's Slave Block.

Herbert Putnam, unnoticed by any one, elbowed his way through the crowd to his brother and touched him on the arm. Their eyes met. "Pardon me," said Herbert, "but I must speak to you," and George Putnam was drawn beyond the outskirts of the crowd. "I cannot keep quiet and see you cheated," faltered Herbert, with his eyes averted. "A long time ago, when you and I were boys, you stood up for me, and I cannot forget that we are brothers. Don't bid any more on Rastus. He is shamming. He is as sick as can be and is only pretending to be well to bring a high price."

The two men gazed into each other's eyes. George Putnam was quivering all over, and his face was softening. Impulsively he put out his hand as if to apologize for his lack of words. "Let's not be enemies any longer," went on Herbert as he pressed the extended hand. "I am tired and sick of this estrangement. I am going away, and I may never come back. I can't keep up the old place as father thought I would, and you are welcome to it. Take it and care for it. My mother's and father's graves are on it."

George Putnam's face was working. He strove to reply, but his voice was clogged. He looked toward his son and wife in his carriage and then back into his brother's face. "God forgive me, Herb," he said. "I've treated you like a dog. Old Rastus has been truer to you than your own brother. You shall not give up the old place. You must keep it. Wait." And with these words he hurried to the platform.

The auctioneer had been proclaiming Staley's reckless bid of thirteen-twenty-five, and the crowd was eagerly taking in the unusual sight of the two Putnam brothers in close conversation. Colonel Putnam reached the platform and signed the auctioneer to be quiet Standing on the lower step, he was in the view of all.

"I want Rastus, and I am going to have him," he said to the upturned faces. "I want him to give him back to my brother, who has been forced by my neglect to offer him for sale. Twenty thousand dollars is my bid, and Rastus is worth every cent of it."

No one spoke as Colonel Putnam stepped back into the crowd. Old Rastus seemed the only one to thoroughly grasp the situation. "Bress de Lawd!" he exclaimed as he slapped Aunt Milly on the back. "Dem boys done made up, en I fotch $20,000! Whoo-ee!"

"Twenty thousand dollars," said the auctioneer awkwardly. "Twenty thousand—do I hear?—and sold to Colonel Putnam. I reckon the' ain't no use puttin up the others."—Will N. Harben in Lippincott's.

Some of the Unimportant Things That Women Find to Ridicule

"Men are fond of laughing at the little ways and whims of women," said our sprightly hostess, "but I wish some man would explain to me why he carries unimportant papers about with him for months, wearing them out in so doing.

"I have often watched my husband carefully change the contents of coat or trousers pockets from one suit of clothes to another. Soiled, worn envelopes and folded papers are tenderly transferred, and for a long time I was impressed with the important operation and drew a sigh of relief when the operation was over. One day my curiosity got the better of me, and I begged for a sight of those mysterious documents guarded with so much care.

"To please me my husband examined them. He found several unreceipted bills, some that had been paid and receipts filed; a note from a friend dated three months back, regretting that he didn't find him in his office when he called; one or two business cards of firms he had no recollection of knowing; several advertisement circulars; a playbill of last season's performance, preserved for some unforgotten temporary reason, and perhaps three really important papers among the whole lot. And I honestly believe if I had not prompted the investigation he would be reassuring those worthless bits of paper to this day under the impression that they were of value."—New York Telegram.

Chinese Politeness.

In the matter of social politeness the Chinese, especially the "literati," have reason to look down upon the barbarians of the west. Politeness has been likened generally to an air cushion. There is nothing in it, but it eases the jolts wonderfully. As a mere ritual of technicalities it has perhaps reached its highest point in China. The multitude of honoric titles so bewildering and even maddening to the occidental are here used simply to keep in view the fixed relations of graduated superiority. When wishing to be exceptionally courteous to "the foreigners," the more experienced mandarins would lay their doubled fists in the palms of our hands instead of raising them in front of their foreheads, with the usual salutation, "Homa." In shaking hands with a Chinaman we thus very often had our hands full.—From "Across Asia on a Bicycle" in Century.

An Inference.

"How do you like that cigar?" asked the man who had just presented his friend with a weed.

"Excellent. One of the best I have smoked in a long time."

"It was presented to me by a friend."

"Yes. I thought it must have been."—Washington Star.

His Loved Ones.

"Two classes of people I love," said the impecunious author to himself. "The ancient writers and my friends." Then he took himself thoughtfully by the other hand and added, "I suppose it is because I borrow from both of them."—Rockland Tribune.

Pierce Guarantees a Cure.

Keyser, N. C.

DR. R. V. PIERCE: Dear Sir—When about three years old I was taken with mumps, also had fever, finally I had that dreaded disease Scrofula. The most eminent physicians in this section treated me to no avail. I had running scrofulous sores on left side of neck and face. I was small and weakly when eight or nine years old, and in fact was nearly a skeleton. Six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery wrought marvelous changes. Although the sores were healed in eight months, I did not quit taking it until I was sure it had been entirely routed from my system. The only signs left of the dreadful disease are the scars which ever remind me of how near d[illegible] door I was until rescued by the "D[illegible]" I am now eighteen years old [illegible] weigh 143 pounds; and have not been sick in five years.

Yours respectfully,

RHUEMATISM PREVALENT.

Rheumatism Should Be Arrested in Its Early Stages—Mrs. M. Hill, of Galeton, Pa., Finds a Remedy.

Probably there is no disease that inflicts so much continuous pain as rheumatism. When it becomes chronic, there are few so hard to cure. This disease is caused by an impure state of the blood. The impurity consists of an excess of lethic acid, and to drive this acid from the blood is the object of all rational treatment.

The medical faculty have found in Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy a certain and positive cure for this terrible complaint. Mrs. M. Hill, of Galeton, Pa., in writing of her experince with Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, says: "One year ago I was taken with muscular rheumatism. My limbs were so painful I could scarcely walk. I determined to try Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and before I had used the third bottle the pain was all gone."

Favorite Remedy cures as well chronic, acute or inflammatory rheumatism; and in all diseases brought about by impure blood, or an excess of acid in the blood, such as urinary troubles, dyspepsia, constipation, kidney or liver complaints, it is a well known specific.

Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy can be purchased of any druggist at one dollar a bottle or six bottles for five dollars.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Oct. 13.—The schooner Aaron Reppard, which arrived here yesterday, was struck by the storm last Tuesday off St. Helena Island, and the mate, a man named Smith, of Philadelphia, was washed overboard and drowned. The mainsail and jib was carried away. Captain English was severely bruised by being thrown on the vessel's deck.

Captain and Steward Drowned.

BOSTON, Oct. 13.—Five of the crew of the wrecked schooner Laura V. Rose, of Philadelphia, arrived here yesterday afternoon. The Rose was wrecked on Wednesday in Vineyard sound, and Captain Leach and the steward were drowned after being lashed for fifteen hours to the rigging.

Robbed in Broad Daylight.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 13.—On Fourth street, in broad daylight, a messenger of the Second National bank was robbed of $1,000 in cash and coupons and cash drafts of an unknown value. He had the wallet in an outside pocket and got into a crowd, after which the wallet was missing.

Labor Leader Burns Coming Over.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Mr. John Burns, the labor leader and member of parliament for the Battersea division of London, is to leave England next month for the United States as the English Trades union congress delegate to the Denver congress of trades unions.

Schooner Capsized, Crew Saved.

LEWES, Del., Oct. 13.—Schooner Sea Foam, Captain Chandler, twenty tons burden, from Milton, Del., with lumber for Millville, N. J., in attempting to cross the bay in the northwest gale, capsized on the Shears shoal. The crew were rescued by a pilot boat's crew. The Sea Foam was towed to the beach and righted.

Small Damages for Slander.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 13.—At a socialist meeting a year ago Myer Goldstein, a partisan of Joseph Barondess, of New York, the speaker, called Abraham Goldstein a thief and swindler. The latter sued for $5,000. The jury yesterday gave Goldstein one cent, and compelled him to pay the costs—$100.

Maryland's Iron Hall Funds.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 13.—Judge Dennis yesterday decided that the $70,000 Iron Hall funds will not be sent to Indianapolis. This is regarded as a final decision. The Maryland members will, by this decree, receive 20 per cent. more than if the money was distributed from Indianapolis.

Asphyxiated While She Slept.

TRENTON, Oct. 13.—Mary Kelly, aged 24 years, daughter of William Kelly, a grocer at the corner of Bellevue avenue and Fowler street, was found dead in bed. The wind had blown out the gas in her room during the night, and she was asphyxiated.

Chittenden Caught in Canada.

WINDSOR, Ont., Oct. 13.—Edmond Chittenden, wanted at Lexington, Ky., on the charge of robbing the United States mails, is under arrest here. He is 22 years of age, and his family is one of the most influential in Kentucky. He will be extradited.

Two Killed, One Fatally Burned.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 13.—Two men were killed and a third fatally injured at the Pennsylvania Steel works at Steelton yesterday. A plate of steel sixty feet long fell while being hoisted and struck Harry C. Brickell, killing him instantly. At noon a top explosion of gas occurred at No. 1 blast furnace, caused by the top filling in the hanging furnace clogging. Joseph Petril was burned to a crisp and Herman Erbe so badly burned that he will die.

Austria's "Ripper" Arrested.

VIENNA, Oct 13.—It is reported from Innspurck that gendarmes have arrested the murderer and mutilator of the two women whose bodies were found near Amras, in the Austrian Tyrol, a little over a fortnight ago. Another woman belonging in the same neighborhood is missing and it is supposed she suffered a like fate.

MUNYON INVESTIGATED.

Leading Newspapers, After Thorough and Careful Investigation, Report That His Remedies Cure Ninety-six Out of every One Hundred Cases.

During the past five months such reliable journals as the Boston Post, Philadelphia Times, New York Press, Baltimore American, Washington Post, and equally prominent newspapers in other cities have thoroughly investigated the claims made for Munyon's Homœopathic Remedies with the most astonishing results. Read what they have to say:

The Boston Post says: "Since we began to investigate the claims made for Munyon's Remedies we have received letters and testimonials from nearly every State in the Union, and find that his remedy only fails to cure about 4 per cent of the cases. Some of these cures have been so quick and so thorough that they seem almost incredible."

The Philadelphia Times says: "Out of 1811 reports received from those who used Munyon's Rheumatism Cure, 1744 declare themselves positively cured, and 33 say they have been greatly benefited. This is certainly indisputable evidence, and must place his remedies as one of the great discoveries of the age."

The New York Press says: "We find that out of every 100 who have used Munyon's Remedies 96 have declared themselves cured or greatly benefited. There can now be no hesitancy in saying that Munyon's Remedies may be termed positive cures."

The Baltimore American says: It will be seen by the testimonials we have published that Munyon's Rheumatism Cure acts almost instantaneously, curing the most obstinate cases in a few hours. This remedy never fails to cure sharp, shooting pains in the arms, legs, sides, back or breast, or soreness in any part of the body. It is guaranteed to promptly cure lameness, sciatica, lumbago, stiff and swollen joints, stiff back and all pains in the hips and loins. It seldom fails to give relief after one or two doses, and almost invariably cures before one bottle has been used.

Fall River Strike Ended.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Oct. 13.—The Mule Spinners' association voted yesterday to accept the manufacturers' proposition. It is believed this action will break the strike of the 21,000 operatives in this city, and that all will return to work on Monday.

Ambassador Bayard's Welcome Home.

WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 13.—A reception by the Democrats of Delaware is to be accorded Ambassador Bayard tonight on his return from abroad. All the famous Democrats of this and neighboring states will take part.

A Lengthy Deadlock.

SARATOGA, Oct. 13.—Eight hundred and eighty-four ballots have been taken without breaking the deadlock in the Republican convention of the Twenty-second congressional district.

NUGGETS OF NEWS.

John Nichol, LL D., professor of astronomy and English literature, died in London, aged 61 years.

Natural gas has been struck in fair quantities near Karthuas, Pa. The drillers will go deeper for a heavier flow.

Dr. Arnold, a physician of Fairview, Pa., was struck and instantly killed by a train on the Central Railroad of New Jersey last evening.

H L. Ambrose, of Huntington, Pa., a Pennsylvania railroad brakeman, was squeezed to death between two cars in Harrisburg.

The long pending dispute between the St Paul Railroad company and the Pullman Palace Car company, involving perhaps $700,000, is about to be settled out of court.

A New Four-Year-Old Record.

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Oct. 13.—Ten thousand people attended the races yesterday. Online's great performance in his attempt to beat his record of 2.07¾ was the feature. The first quarter was made in 32 seconds, the second in 1.03, the third in 1.39 and the mile in 2.04, breaking the world's 4-year-old pacing record.

Another Legal Victory for Sage.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The general term of the supreme court has reversed the judgment for $25,000 obtained by William Laidlaw against Russell Sage for damages sustained by him from the dynamite explosion perpetrated by Henry A. Norcross in Sage's office two years ago, and ordered a new trial.

ECONOMY TALK.

Sail Extraordinary

Commencing to-day, Oct. 8, and every day this week, there will "sail" out of our store a large lot of Remnants of Dress Goods and Cloths — Velvet, velveteen trimming, silk, also millinery trimmings and cloaks. The prices at which they are marked will not require much "wind" to set them "a sail." This will be a more attractive sale than regular remnant sale, as you can get quantities of some goods at about remnant prices. It is hardly necessary to say the most desirable pieces will go first.

THE PRESIDENT COMING TO MIDDLETOWN.

The Sick May Receive Medical Services Free of Charge.

The President and members of the European and American Staff of German, English, Irish, Scandinavian and American Doctors of New York city will be at the Russell House, Middletown, on Wednesday, October 17th,

one day only. The sick and afflicted may consult them without charge during their stay.

If you are incurable they will tell you; therefore invalids must not take offence if they are rejected, as no case will be accepted unless there is a moral certainty of a cure being effected. These Doctors are graduates of the best universities of Europe and America; they are of the highest standing in the medical profession and have had unlimited experience in the treatment of all Chronic Diseases and Deformities. As the latest methods, instruments and appliances of the various schools of both the Old and the New World are familiar to and at the command of this staff of doctors, it is reasonable to believe that in ninety cases out of every hundred a cure can be effected, even when the patients have been given up as incurable by doctors who have had less experience. Do not be discouraged because your doctor cannot give you relief, or even if he tells you that you cannot get well, for it matters not what your disease may be, you can consult the doctors free, and, if curable, they will treat you; if incurable, they will give you such advice as will tend to prolong life and afford you the greatest relief.

The doctor will visit Middletown one day each month. Office hours from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m.

SECOND ASSEMBLY DISTRICT CONVENTION.

The Democratic electors of the several towns and wards comprising the Second Assembly district of the county of Orange, are requested to meet at the place of holding their last respective town and ward meetings for the purpose of electing the delegates to which they are respectively entitled, on the 11th day of October, 1891 at 3 p m, (unless otherwise ordered by their town or ward committee) to represent them in the Assembly District Convention, to be held at the Assembly Rooms in Middletown, on Monday, the 15th day of October, 1894, at 12 o'clock m, to nominate a candidate for Assembly for said district

E. DIKEMAN, } Assembly
W. H. CRANE, } District
WM. POHLMAN } Committee

The Democratic State Committee has settled the factional fight in Rockland county. The rival county committees are to submit fourteen names to the State Committee from which a new county committee of five will be selected, which will have entire charge of the campaign, the old committee ceasing to exist. The settlement is satisfactory and honorable to all and it has evidently changed the political situation in the county which may safely be depended on for an old time Democratic majority.

* * *

The Republican Convention in the St. Lawrence, Saratoga, Fulton and Hamilton district, adjourned, last night, without making a nomination, and the time for filing certificates having expired, nominations will have to be made by petition. Over 1,100 ballots were taken. It is expected that St. Lawrence county will nominate Gen. Curtis, the present Representative, and that the other counties will nominate Lucius N. Lattener, whom they voted for on the last few hundred ballots. With two Republican candidates in the field there is a chance for the election of the Democratic candidate.

* * *

A well known resident of this city, who is well informed as to railroad affairs, says that all the great lines are so rushed with business that they have not the transportation facilities to handle it. This is especiall true, he says, of the Lake Shore road, with the business of which he has been thoroughly conversant for years, and which he never knew to handle as large a volume of business as it is now doing. There is no surer index of prosperity than a rush of railroad traffic, and the many heavily loaded trains and crowded freight houses in all the business centres are only one of many similar signs that Democratic tariff reform has sent new life pulsing through the country's industrial and commercial system.

* * *

Cheering indeed is the political news from Sullivan county. The Democratic county ticket, nominated Wednesday, is an unusually strong one and the party goes into the contest full of hope, courage and enthusiasm. There are no signs of disaffection anywhere, while the Republicans are distracted and divided by factional feuds, and their county ticket is received in many quarters with open dissatisfaction. The nomination of Eugene S. Ives, which gives the Democrats more than a fighting chance for this Congressional district, has imparted new life and spirit to the campaign in Sullivan county. Hard work is being done in every town, and on election night we may confidently expect good news from over the Shawangunks.

* * *

The New York Sun is out against Straus for Mayor, saying he has no capacities for public business. But "that's all in my eye, Betty Martin," as any fellow who has followed the ins and outs of the public business of the metropolis at once catches onto. Now, when Paul Dana, son of the Sun's editor, was a Park Commissioner, Straus, who was one of the board, had the impudence to disagree with a Dana,—something for which no man ever yet got off Scott free. Ever since that episode, it is plain to be seen, that the Sun has had a knife up its sleeve for Straus, and now the knife is going in, going in as it did into Gen. Grant, as it did into Gen. Hancock, and as it has into Grover Cleveland; and as it has, from behind, been for years going into the Democratic party. But it has come to pass that nobody any longer fears the Sun's knife. It has been used so often, and to such bad and malignant purpose, that its thrusts can no more do mortal harm to any one.

* * *

A STRONG NOMINATION

From the Newburgh Press

The nomination of Eugene S. Ives for Member of Congress, Thursday, is a strong nomination. Rockland county sent a solid delegation to the convention and Sullivan joined with her, and Orange county dropped gracefully into the procession. Mr. Ives' nomination was made unanimous amid great enthusiasm.

Mr. Ives is a brilliant orator, alert and quick in debate, a classical and polished scholar and made a shining record as State Senator when the Democracy was in the minority in that body. It was a Senatorial minority, of which the Democracy may well be proud, and to its lustre Mr. Ives added his full share. He retired from that body and refused a renomination. He has been a resident of the Seventeenth Congressional District, we believe, for five years. He was in the Assembly from 1885 to 1887, and in the Senate from 1887 to 1889. He is a magnetic gentleman, and will be the means of redeeming the district.

FOR GOVERNOR—DAVID B. HILL.

The keynote now is sounded,
From Erie down to Kings;
With one acclaim there rises,
With one accord there rings,
In trumpet tones of victory,
The people's fervent will;
Success to true Democracy
And stalwart David Hill!

The Baker's Bill
Tells of Greatly Increased Appetite.

"It affords me great pleasure to tell not only the condition of my present health but also that of my whole family. A friend who knew of my poor health advised me to use Hood's Sarsaparilla. After two bottles a great change in my health was noticed. I do not have that tired feeling, no pain in the stomach, especially after eating, and in fact I feel like a new person and hold some pleasure in life. Every member of my family is using Hood's Sarsaparilla and with beneficial results, if I may judge by my baker's bill each week.

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CONVENTION

Large Attendance and Much Interest Manifested—A Strong Ticket Nominated—The Proceedings in Detail.

Despite the storm a large number of delegates and prominent Democrats from all parts of the county were in attendance at the Democratic County Convention, which was held in Goshen, to-day.

Among those present was Hon. Eugene S. Ives, of Sufferu, the Democratic candidate for Congress. He is a genial gentleman of very pleasant address and made a most excellent impression on all who met him.

The convention was called to order by Hon. Wm. H. Clark, Chairman of the County Committee, who nominated Granville Kane, of Tuxedo, for chairman. Mr. Kane was heartily applauded as he took the chair. He made a brief and appropriate speech, thanking the convention for honoring him by choosing him to preside over it, urging harmony and good feeling, the choice of good candidates and earnest work for the candidates from now until election day.

P. H. Nolan, of Deerpark, and John Fitzpatrick, of Newburgh, were elected secretaries.

O. L. Elwood, of Middletown, and C. J. Kidd, of Newburgh, were appointed tellers.

On the calling of the towns contesting delegates appeared from Greenville. The matter was referred to a committee on contested seats, consisting of Charles Ketcham, L W. Y. McCroskery, Benjamin Fair, David Tracey and John P. Donahue. One of the delegates was elected upon a call of the County Committee and the other on the call of the Town Committee. The convention then took a recess until 2 o'clock.

On the reassembling of the convention, Chairman Kane introduced Ex-Senator Ives, the Democratic candidate for Congress, who was received with hearty cheers. He made a ringing address, full of cheer, confidence and enthusiasm, which was received with hearty applause. He announced that he was in the fight to win and expected to speak at every place in the county in which he was asked to speak.

The Committtee on Contested Seats reported in favor of seating the delegates for Greenville elected under the town committee's call. They are S. R. Decker, G. Ferguson and was S. Polhamus.

Mr. W. H. Wyker presented the name of J. C. R. Taylor, of Middletown, for County Judge. The nomination was made by acclamation.

W. F. O'Neill in an elegant speech presented the name of Gabriel Tuthill as candidate for Sheriff.

Timothy Mongan, of Middletown, presented the name of John F. Dicks, of this city.

Dr. Seward, of Goshen, presented the name of Theo. Church, of that village.

Daniel Schultz, of Deerpark, presented the name of E. O. Harding, of that town.

The informal ballot for Sheriff resulted as follows: Tuthill, 60; Dicks 26; Church, 11; Harding, 22.

The ballot was made formal and Mr. Tuthill's nomination was made unanimous.

Mr. F. A. Willard, of Newburgh, presented the name of Charles Ketcham, of Cornwall, as a candidate for County Clerk, and the nomination was made by acclamation.

Ex-Supt. of the Poor, E. S. Puff, nominated E. C. Harding, of Deerpark, as a candidate for Supt. of the Poor.

H. E. Hulse, of Wawayanda, nominated W. H. Greene, of Slate Hill. The latter nomination was seconded by J. V. D. Benedict, of Warwick.

The ballot resulted as follows: Harding, 70; Greene, 27.

The nomination was made unanimous.

Henry Van Duzer, of Cornwall, was nominated for Justice of Sessions.

Frank Flynn, of Goshen, and W. H. Pope, of Newburgh, were nominated for Coroners.

AN IMPOSITION UPON VOTERS.

Places of Registry Closed at a Time When They Should Be Open.

A gentleman complained to an ARGUS reporter, to-day, that the place of registry in his district in the Second Ward was closed at meal hours, the only time that he could register. Last Saturday he went to the place on his way to supper. It was closed, and several persons who had gone there to register went away declaring that they would never come again. To day, the same gentleman went at noon, and the place was closed and two workingmen were waiting an opportunity to register.

The places of registry should not be closed at noon or after the usual time of quitting work in the factories and shops.

Inspectors and clerks are well paid for their services and should accommodate the public by having at least one member of each party on duty all the time.

—You must register in person or you cannot vote. Attend to it, to-night.

LAST CHANCES TO REGISTER.

To-day is registry day in this city. The Boards will be in session at the polling places until 9 p. m.

Voters should bear in mind that, owing to a change in the law, only one chance for registry in cities remains after to-day.

The only chances for registry of city voters now open are to-day and Saturday, October 20. This fact must not be forgotten. Voters must register in person in cities.

In towns the Boards will meet for registry October 20th and 27th. Voters in the towns should visit the polling places in person and see for themselves that their names are on the lists. Do not rely upon having voted at the preceding general election. On the second day of registry only those who appear in person can be registered.

The Inspectors of Election will also meet on November 3rd, the first Saturday preceding election, for the purpose of correcting the registry lists by adding to or striking off the name of any person pursuant to an order of the court or a Judge thereof, but no names of any other persons will be added to the list at this time, except the names of such persons as shall have become naturalized since the last previous meeting, and the names of such naturalized persons who may be otherwise qualified to vote will be added only upon producing and filing with the Inspectors of Election their naturalization papers or a certified copy thereof. These facts should be borne in mind by voters who may desire to take advantage of this opportunity.

A BIRTHDAY WHIST PARTY.

A Pleasant Event in Honor of Mr. J. R. Van Duzer's Sixtieth Birthday.

Yesterday was Mr. J. R. Van Duzer's sixtieth birthday, and in honor of the event he and his good wife entertained, last evening, about fifty of their friends at their pleasant home on Roberts street. Whist was was the recreation of the evening. The prizes, a beautiful vase and a cane fishing rod, were won by Mrs. J. V. Demarest and Hon. Frank Buckley. The refreshments did credit to Mrs. Van Duzer's culinary skill and hospitable heart

Mr. Van Duzer was the recipient of many hearty congratulations and good wishes, and if a small fraction of the good wishes of his friends are realized will live to celebrate many returns of his natal day.

THE ASYLUMS WON.

The Last Game of the Season Won from Walden—Score 3 to 2.

The Asylums wound up the season at Walden, yesterday, by a victory over the local team by a score of 3 to 2. The usual wrangle which always occurs on the Walden field, was had, yesterday, but the Asylums managed to squeeze through ahead this time. The following is the score by innings.

Asylums	0	0	2	0	0	0	1	0	x—3

Two base hits—Murray, Madison, Rowlet. Double plays—Nichols and Decker, Rowlet, Decker and Ronk; Murray, Genegal and Murray; Chesbro, McGreevy and Genegal.

Entertainments to be Given During the Eighth Season of the Goshen Vocal Society—Other Local and Personal Items of Interest

From a Special Correspondent.

—At the regular rehearsal of the Goshen Vocal Society, last evening, the musical director and treasurer read their annual reports. That of the treasurer showed that the receipts of the society during its seventh season, closing last June, were larger than ever before since its organization. The director made public the plan of the entertainments to be given during its eighth season. Next Friday evening, Mr. George Riddle will read Victor Hugo's drama of Lucretia Borgia. He will be accompanied by an orchestra that will play selections from Donizette's opera of the same season. The Messiah will be given on the evening of the 27th of December, which will be the fourth time it has been given in our village. Two of the works selected for the June Festival concerts are Rossini's Stabat Mater and Balfe's opera of The Bohemian Girl. It is possible that the series will be concluded with Handel's oratorio of Judas Maccabeus, but this ~~has not~~ been definitely decided upon as yet. The annual banquet of the society will probably be held on the evening of Monday, Nov. 12th.

—The Woman's Missionary Society of Hudson Presbytery held two meetings at the Presbyterian Church, in this village, on Thursday of this week, one at 11:30 and another at 1:45. At the afternoon session the ladies were addressed by Miss Fannie Ruley, of Utah, who gave an interesting account of her work among the Mormons.

—The body of the infant child of Mr. Edward Haight, of New York, was placed in the family mausoleum in this village, last Tuesday.

—Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Vail will leave Goshen for their New York home, new week.

—Mrs. Russell Strait, of Bradford, Pa., has been the guest of her parents in this village, during the week.

ELECTRIC RAILWAY MATTERS.

Progress of the Work on the Goshen Line—More Vestibuled Cars Coming.

The work on the extension of the electric railway from Midway Park to Goshen is progressing rapidly, and if nothing unexpected occurs the line will be opened early in November.

The contractors for the rock cut have not yet commeenced work and unless they do so soon the opening of the road will be retarded. The contract was let with the object of having the work done quickly.

One and one-half miles of track have been laid from Midway Park towards Goshen and considerable grading has been done on the other end of the road, the line being ready for the rails as far as Emmett Smith's.

Four new vestibuled cars were shipped by the St. Louis Car Company on Thursday and will be here in a few days. They are badly needed, as the open cars are now out of season.

The company is laying new curves on Low avenue, near the bridge. The work was commenced, yesterday, and the rain compelled the men to quit work. Passengers were transferred on foot at that point.

Commencing to-morrow, cars on the Asylum line will be run through to the park on a twenty minute schedule, as they did when the Asylum line was first opened.

A YOUNG GIRL'S FORTUNE.

AN INTERESTING SKETCH.

Nothing appeals so strongly to a mother's affection as her daughter just budding into womanhood. Following is an instance: "Our daughter. Blanche, now 15 years of age, had been terribly afflicted with nervousness, and had lost the entire use of her right arm. She was in such a condition that we had to keep her from school and abandon her music lessons. In fact, we feared, St. Vitus dance, and are positive but for an invaluable remedy she would have had that terrible affliction. We had employed physicians, but she received no benefit from them. The first of last August she weighed but 75 pounds, and although she has taken only three bottles of Nervine she now weighs 106 pounds; her nervousness and symptoms of St. Vitus dance are entirely gone, she attends school regularly, and studies with comfort and ease. She has recovered complete use of her arm, her appetite is splendid, and no money could procure for our daughter the health Dr. Miles' Nervine has brought her.

"When my brother recommended the remedy I had no faith in patent medicines, and would not listen to him, but as a last resort he sent us a bottle, we began giving it to Blanche, and the effect was almost immediate."—Mrs. R. R. Bullock, Brighton, N. Y.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It is positively free from opiates or dangerous drugs.

THE SOVEREIGN POET.

He sits above the clang and dust of time,
With the world's secret trembling on his lip.
He asks not converse nor companionship
In the cold starlight, where thou canst not climb.

The undelivered tidings in his breast
Suffer him not to rest.
He sees afar the immemorable throng
And binds the scattered ages with a song.

The glorious riddle of his rhythmic breath,
His might, his spell, we know not what they be.
We only feel, whate'er he uttereth,
This savors not of death;
This hath a relish of eternity.
—William Watson in Spectator.

THE SILK CORD.

The noble Chao-Se was very unhappy. Nevertheless his rice crop had been unusually abundant; the white flowers of the tea plant filled his gardens; his silk cocoons were never richer; he was the lucky possessor of an autograph letter from the emperor, in which could be seen the word chaon, a credential of long life, and, lastly, he had seen divided in 10,000 pieces the body of his enemy Pe-Kong, who had affronted him by cutting off his pigtail.

Why, then, had our noble Chinese ordered the image of Fo to be belabored with sticks, leaving a mere wreck of that deity standing amid fragments of his former porcelain and imposing figure? And that evening at supper why had he disputed with his ancient cook the excellence of a magnificent dish of roast dog that all the guests had pronounced exquisite, disdained a cup of the finest Kyson tea and paid no attention to his pet monkey, in spite of all his playful caresses?

"Respected kinsmen," said Chao-Se gravely, after the meal had ended, to the three venerable Chinamen squatting at his side, "you all know that I had intended presenting my son at the court of our Celestial Kingdom."

The speaker and his hearers inclined their heads until their pigtails swept the floor, and it became necessary to remove the monkey, who imitated the action of these grave personages. Chao-Se continued:

"My son, Te-Ku, has not regarded my teachings. He does not know how to bend the body gracefully 18 times in making our court bow, nor is he familiar with the unalterable forms of our Celestial etiquette. He has rejected my old friend Ling's virtuous daughter, whose tiny feet could be incased in nutshells, and, let this astonish you, dear friends, defied by Chung, whose honored body now reposes in the tomb, he refused to disembowel himself, while his adversary expired triumphant with his abdomen ripped open in the most approved fashion. In this disgrace I have called you together, being resolved to follow your advice as to the best means of saving the family honor."

"You should, above all, disinherit Te-Ku," said the eldest of the council.

"And divide your possessions among us," added the second.

"And as the family honor is tarnished a sacrifice is necessary," said the third. "You should strangle yourself in order that the reputation of our house may not perish."

Such was the decision of the council. Chao-Se now, too late, regretted having convoked it.

* * * * * *

"What present is this you are bringing me?" asked the wife of Chao-Se that same night, noticing that her husband had placed a small ivory box upon the table of her room.

"Beautiful and dearly beloved Tian, I have a surprise for you," replied the noble Chinese gallantly.

Tian gathered herself up on her couch, exposing to view a pair of tiny feet some two or three inches in length.

"You have been a good wife," continued Chao-Se kindly, "and I desire that you should figure in history as a model of virtue. Well, then, the family council has decided that I must sacrifice myself to restore our lost reputation, but as I have a certificate of long life from my sovereign it would be an act of ingratitude on my part to cut short my own existence. I have therefore selected you, dear Tian, as my substitute, that you may save our honor with the silk cord you will find in that box. I am sure you will be grateful to me for this mark of distinction and proof of my deep affection."

"Sir," exclaimed Tian terrified, "I dare not kill myself. I am as timid as a chicken."

"Calm yourself, my dear. If you cannot do it alone, being as timid as a chicken, I'll get the cook to help you," and the noble Chao-Se embraced his wife tenderly and withdrew from the apartment.

Tian appeared calm. Kin, the cook, was uneasy.

"Kin," said she, "thou needest repose."

"I sleep little, my lady," replied Kin, rubbing his eyes.

"Thou shouldst have desires of enjoying in the next world the pleasures that have been reserved for thee."

"I am ignorant of what the great Buddha may have in store for me there."

"Dost thou wish to fly with me?" asked Tian, gazing lovingly at the poor cook.

"My lady!" exclaimed he, trembling.

"To fly from a house where they do not appreciate thy roasts, to unite thyself to me and become master of my magnificent jewels."

Kin kissed the floor to express his gratitude.

"Avoiding the vengeance of Chao-Se"—

"Oh, yes!" faltered the trembling cook.

"There is a way to accomplish all this. Thy master, Chao-Se, protected by the emperor's decree, will yet live many years, during which time we shall be able to leave this earth and lose ourselves in space."

"I don't understand."

"It is very simple. I wish thee to accompany me in this last journey. Take this cord and hang thyself outside the door while I gather up my jewels and prepare to follow thee."

Kin opened his oblique eyes in horror. Tian gave him a languishing glance.

"Goodby," she said. "Do not fail me," and pushed him gently toward the door, slipping around his neck the soft, silken cord.

As Kin left the apartment he heard a noise in an adjoining room. "It must be the monkey," he said to himself, and then continued meditatively: "For two reasons I had better not kill myself. In the first place, because I have no certainty of reviving in the other world, and, secondly, because if I do come to life again the mighty Fo will be able to take vengeance upon me for the beating I have given his image."

Again the noise was heard. It was not the monkey, but Te-Ku who made it, robbing the treasure chest of his father. The garden window was open. The jewels showed glitteringly through the open mouth of a sack. Kin, indignant, could not do less than reproach him for his conduct, at the same time revealing to him the predicament in which he had placed the family.

Te-Ku implored him to speak lower, but Kin responded each time in a louder voice. At length the unhappy youth exclaimed, conscience stricken, "Give me the cord. I am the true culprit, and to me should belong the sacrifice!" And making a noose in one end of the fatal cravat he tied the other to the window frame, swung the bag of jewels to his shoulder for the expenses of the journey, and embracing the cook affectionately said to him:

"Go now and leave me alone. I do not wish thee to witness my death agony."

Kin had not complete confidence in his young master, but did not dare disobey his command. As he descended the stairway leading to the garden he heard a heavy blow, followed by a peculiar squeak.

"Can he have fled?" Kin asked himself, doubtfully.

The garden was very dark, but a body hung quivering at the end of the cord. This Kin could see plainly, but he did not observe a dark form stealing away among the trees.

"I've got myself nicely out of that scrape," said Kin, with a sigh of relief, passing his hand pensively around his neck. After a few moments of meditation he entered his room, filled his pipe with opium, and stretching himself on his mat soon fell into a deep sleep.

The following morning at daybreak the relatives of Chao-Se, attired in white, the mourning costume of the Chinese, presented themselves at his house prepared to render to his corpse the last tributes, but to their great surprise they found him awaiting them, also dressed in white, and maintaining a ceremonious attitude.

"What, still alive?" they exclaimed indignantly.

Chao-Se then related to them all that had occurred—his scruples, the timidity of his wife, the substitution of the cook and the voluntary expiation of his son. The others, after an animated discussion, agreed to accept this solution of the difficulty.

"Let us now go to the garden, into which nobody has yet entered," said Chao-Se solemnly. "There we shall view the body of my unhappy son."

The committee made their way to the garden, but upon arriving at the scene of the catastrophe were stupefied with amazement. Suspended by the silken cord, and swinging to and fro like a pendulum, was the rigid body of a monkey.

"That is not my son!" exclaimed Chao-Se horrified.

"Sir, I saw him place the noose around his neck," replied the cook. "Without doubt the monkey has fled in the figure of your son, leaving his own image behind him. There is something of magic in this—the divine Fo is avenged."

"No such thing," said the prospective inheritors of the estate, with decision. "It's the body of Te-Ku. Don't you see the resemblance to the father? It is his very image!"

"But, gentlemen," protested Chao-Se, defending himself, "look at that mouth!"

"It is your own, noble Chao-Se," replied the others.

"And those ears"—

"Are identical with yours," and in a whisper, "Remember that a victim was required!"

The distinguished Chinaman admitted at length that the body was that of his son, although certainly somewhat disfigured.

Consequently the death of Te-Ku was officially certified to, the remains were given a magnificent burial, and the family council declared the honor of the house of Chao-Se to be fully re-established.

* * * * * *

In spite of the certificate of long life, Chao-Se survived his son only a few months. Then came to take charge of the inheritance a young man who claimed to be Te-Ku and declared that he had fled from the paternal mansion some time before, jumping from the garden window and scaling the wall.

The case having been submitted to the highest tribunal in the land a learned mandarin rendered the following decision, which is still a precedent in China to settle disputes of a similar nature:

"The death and burial of Te-Ku having been legally proven;

"No one having been missed from the house of Chao-Se on the night in question except a monkey, whose whereabouts are now unknown;

"Be it decided, therefore, that if the claimant speaks truly in regard to the flight he can be no other than the monkey.

"And if he has failed to speak the truth he deserves to be executed with the cord that the relatives of the deceased still retain in their possession."

In this alternative Te-Ku decided to declare himself a monkey and was forthwith handed over to a traveling mountebank.—Translated From the Spanish For Short Stories.

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

SOME ANECDOTES.

Marshall P. Wilder Pulls Out a Few Stories From His Pouch.

"It's difficult," said that jolly little jester, Marshall P. Wilder, in a recent chat, "to string together coherently new jests and jokes in a [illegible] interview. Humorous efforts, [illegible] know, do not strike any two people in just the same way. Much depends upon the occasion to make a playful turn of words effective, especially to an audience. For instance, last year in Flint, Mich., I gave vent to a spontaneous remark that elicited more applause than anything else I said during the evening. Just as I was approaching the footlights to begin my monologue the electric lights went out and left the house in total darkness. Pausing a few seconds for the return of the light which very dismally failed to give us illumination, I said: 'Ladies and gentlemen, this is a terrible predicament for me. I fear you will be unable to see my jokes.' But the audience very promptly saw that one and gave me a warm welcome. Before they had finished their handclapping and laughter the electric lights again were all in harmonious operation.

"Speaking of the difference between English and American humor, here is an anecdote which perfectly illustrates it. An Englishman, a new arrival in New York, meets an American friend on the street and says, 'How do you feel, old chap?' 'Out of sight,' replies the American. 'And what may that really mean, y'know?' inquires the puzzled Britisher. The American enters into a labored explanation of the cisatlantic idiom, whereupon the gentleman from London, still somewhat puzzled, but evidently satisfied, exclaims, 'Very droll and clevah, don't y'know.' A few days later some one asks the Englishman how he feels by way of greeting, and this is his response: 'Pon my word, old chap, you cawn't see me, y'know.'

"But, after all," continued Mr. Wilder, "the English are very loyal to their friends. Fortunately in England I have a number of admirers. When I was last over there, I met one of them who said to me in a most confidential way, 'Mr. Wilder, those were very funny things you told us last year.' You see, it takes about a year for a good American joke or anecdote to germinate in English soil and bear any kind of fruit."

At this point I asked him whence he derived his best appreciated jokes. Mr. Wilder, after a thoughtful pause, replied: "From everyday life. To illustrate: I saw two Irishmen on a Broadway cable car yesterday. One says to the other: 'Mike, your clothes look purtty tough and seedy. Why don't you get a dacent suit of clothes?'

"'Well,' answers Mike, with almost a pompous confidence in his explanation, 'there's not a tailor in Harlem that kin measure me. I'm that ticklish.'

"Another illustration: One Irishman, 'I hear you've had the grip bad.' Another Irishman, 'Yis, a bout a month ago.' 'Ah, Pat, the grip is a terrible disease. It's the only thing you're sick with after you're well.'

"An Irishman with only one leg was going along the street when he met a friend of his own nationality. 'What,' says the friend, 'you've lost a leg, eh?' 'Yes,' said the other despondently. 'Well,' observed the friend, 'my poor man, you won't miss it these hard times.'

"Here is another cable car incident that I witnessed recently: A man was indulging in profanity in the car when there entered a lady and her husband. The latter, taking umbrage at the blasphemer, said, 'See here, you mustn't swear before my wife,' whereupon the blasphemer answered, 'Excuse me, I didn't know your wife wanted to swear.'

"This is a pretty good one: A young darky, indulging in hitting his thumb with a hammer every few seconds, was asked what he was doing that for. His philosophical reply was, 'Kase it feels so good when I stop.'

Here is another: A man was carrying a disreputable looking dog into an express office when an inquisitive policeman asked where the canine was bound for. Promptly came the answer: "He don't know, and I'm d——d if I do. He's chewed up his tag."

Mr. Wilder's concluding story before receiving another visitor he attributed to Mr. Henry E. Dixey and related substantially as follows: Several old chaps were sitting around the big stove in a rural barroom telling stories and so on when another old chap of much the same type as themselves hobbled in. Seeing no vacant chair, he finally commissioned the pudgy landlord to give his horse in the shed a dozen oysters on the half shell. The landlord made haste to obey the curious order, and the other half dozen old codgers rose en masse and passed out of the room to witness the unheard of exhibition. In the meantime the old fellow who had given the unusul order planted himself in the most comfortable chair in front of the stove and was pleasantly meditating when the old chaps returned, preceded by the landlord, who said, "Your horse won't eat them oysters, boss."

"Well, bring them to me then," said the stranger, relapsing into his cheerful reverie, unmindful of the senile worthies of the village who were returning to the warmth of the stove to find one of the chairs fully occupied.—Truth.

STATE OF NEW YORK,

Office of the Secretary of State,

ALBANY, AUGUST 4, 1894.

Pursuant to the provisions of section seven, chapter six hundred and eighty, Laws of eighteen hundred and ninety-two, notice is hereby given that the following proposed amendment to article six of the Constitution of the State of New York will be submitted to the people of the said State, for the purpose of voting thereon at the next general election in this State, to be held on the sixth day of November, eighteen hundred and ninety-four.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

Proposing amendment to article six of the Constitution of this State in relation to County Judges and Court of Sessions in the county of Kings.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly do enact as follows:

Whereas, At the last session of the Legislature, the following amendment was proposed in the Senate and Assembly, viz:

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That article six of the Constitution of this state be amended by adding thereto the following section:

"§ 32. There shall be in the county of Kings two county judges, each of whose term of office shall be six years. The county judge in office at the adoption of this amendment shall hold office until the expiration of the term for which he was elected. The additional county judge shall be elected at the general election held next after the adoption of this amendment, and his term of office shall begin on the first day of January thereafter. When the official term of any county judge of said county will expire by the effluxion of time or the disability of age, the successor of such judge shall be chosen at the preceding general election. Vacencies otherwise occuring in said offices shall be filled in the same manner as vacancies in the Supreme Court. The salary of said county judge shall be as now established by law for county judge in said county. Their powers and jurisdiction shall be co-ordinate and co-equal. One or more parts of the county court may be held in said county. The court of sessions in the county of Kings is continued with the powers and jurisdiction it now possesses, and with such additional powers and jurisdiction as may be conferred by the Legislature; it must be held by a county judge of the county, and may hold one or more parts."

And whereas, The said proposed amendment was agreed to by a majority of the members elected to each of the two houses of the said Legislature, entered on the journals, with the yeas and nays taken thereon, and referred to the Legislature to be chosen at the then next general election of senators.

And, whereas, Such election has taken place and said proposed amendment was duly published for three months previous to the time of making such choice, in pursuance of the provisions of article thirteen of the Constitution; therefore,

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Assembly do agree to the proposed amendment.

STATE OF NEW YORK,

OVER THE SHAWANGUNKS.

WHAT OUR NEIGHBORS IN SULLIVAN COUNTY ARE DOING.

All the News from All Parts of the County—Many Matters of Interest Condensed from our Sullivan Exchanges and Contributed by Wide-Awake Correspondents.

—There is talk of starting a brewery at Callicoon Depot.

—The third county convention of the Y. P. S. C. E. will be held at Parkeville, Oct. 26 and 27.

—A deer was seen, Monday evening, in a field near the house of Mack Dickson, just west of Monticello.

—A post office has been established at Long Pond. The name of the office is Tennanak Lake and an effort will be made to call the lake by the longer but more euphonious name of Tennanak.

—The new rectory of St. Peter's Church, Liberty, is nearing completion and will soon be ready for occupancy. It is a handsome building and a credit to the church and an ornament to the village.

—The storm of Tuesday night blew down the telegraph wires of the Western Union service, and the Postal line had only two wires out of twelve that would work. Communication with the outside world was temporarily interrupted.—Watchman.

—Max Spies, of Callicoon Depot, caught a wall-eyed pike in the Delaware, this week, that weighed six and one-half pounds. Will Hill, of the same place, caught one that weighed seven pounds and from further up the river comes a story of the capture of one which weighed twelve pounds.

—Don't put it off, register to-night.

DISAPPOINTED THE SPORTS.

George Dixon's Show a Fake—Would Not Spar With Richner—A Tame Exhibition.

George Dixon, the champion featherweight pugilist of the world, and his combination of vaudeville stars drew a large audience at the Casino, last evening. From a pugilistic point of view the show was a fake.

Dixon's astute manager, O'Rourke, would not allowed his colored protege to try conclusions with the man who accepted his sweeping challenge, Jacob Richner, as the latter "weighed over 150 pounds and had never had a glove on his hand, and the exhibition therefore would be too tame."

Dixon and his sparring partner, Jack Lynch, then gave three rounds of very tame "hit and stop and get away" fighting. No "gore" was spilled, and several people in the audience urged the "pugs" to "hit hard," but they were out for the "dust," and as they do the same thing every night, were careful not to inflict any injuries upon each other.

—Register, to-night.

PORT JERVIS'S SMALL-POX EPIDEMIC.

Fourteen Cases and Two Suspects—Most of the Patients Improving.

Dr. J. J. Mills, President of the Board of Health of Port Jervis, was in this city, yesterday. He said the Board was doing everything possible to keep the small-pox, which is now prevalent in that village, in check, but that new cases must almost of necessity be expected, because many people were exposed to the contagion by coming in contact with patients before the nature of their illness was discovered.

The doctor, yesterday, gave out an official statement showing that there are in all fourteen cases and two suspects. There are six cases in the small-pox hospital, five in St. Mary's home, Mrs. Holbert on Sussex street, Mrs. Buchanan, near the old brewery.

The new case is in the Ballard family, and another child in the same family and one in the Buchanan family are sick and believed to be suffering from the disease.

THE CIRCLEVILLE CREAMERY.

Doing a Large Business Under Its New Management—Putting in Machinery for Sterilizing Milk.

Mr. Ed. Seaman, of the New York Hygenic Milk Company, who is the owner of the Circleville creamery, was in town, Thursday. He came up to superintend the refitting of the creamey. It is his intention to put in machinery for sterilizing milk.

The creamery is doing a very large business. It is receiving 3,000 quarts of milk per day now, and will probably receive double that quantity in the flush season.

The creamery has evidently fallen into good hands at last, and there is general satisfaction thereat among the farmers in that locality.

Knights of Maccabees.

The State Commander writes us from Lincoln, Neb., as follows: "After trying other medicines for what seemed to be a very obstinate cough in our two children we tried Dr. King's New Discovery and at the end of two days the cough entirely left them. We will not be without it hereafter as our experience proves that it cures where all other remedies fail."—Signed F. W. Stevens, State Com.—Why not give this great medicine a trial, as it is guaranteed and trial bottles are free at McMonagle and Rogers Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00.

A NEGLECTED FAMILY.

A Sad Case Discovered by the Missionary Union—The Woes of a Destitute and Neglected Family.

Several weeks ago, the members of the Ladies' Missionary Union had their attention called to a family of children at No. 353 North street. Upon visiting the house they found a most distressing state of affairs. Lying upon a couch made of two chairs, an old spring mattress and a tick of straw, they found a young girl, sixteen years of age, with scarcely enough clothing to cover her slender frame.

Two small children, five and seven years of age, were playing on the floor of the room. They were covered with vermin and were in a filthy condition. There was no food in the house.

The young girl was found to be in the first stages of typhoid fever, and was removed to Thrall Hospital. The mother of the children died several years ago, and the father at the time of the above discovery was working in Bloomingburgh as hostler at one of the hotels. He was notified of the condition of affairs and sent for his son, a lad of thirteen years, who had been working for a farmer near this city, to come home and take care of the younger children.

Since then the little ones have been left to the tender mercies of their thirteen-year-old brother, and the father, who, having left his position at Bloomingburgh, has been working for various farmers at husking corn.

The young girl is on the road to recovery and wants to return to the care of the children, but the ladies of the Union are satisfied from their investigations that the surroundings are not such as a young girl and the small children should have. They therefore lodged a complaint with H. W. Wiggins, Esq., the representive of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children in this city, alleging that the father of the children, James Riley, does not provide for the children; that he is dissipated and an improper person to have charge of them, and asking that steps be taken to place the children where they will have proper nourishment and care.

Riley was brought into court, this morning, and the condition of affairs was explained to the Recorder by Mr. Wiggins and Capt. Grier. Riley denied the charges, and the matter will be thoroughly investigated by the police and by Mr. Wiggins, and the Recorder promised Mr. Riley that if he found the reports to be true he would see that not only the children would be provided for but that Riley would be given a steady job.

BURGLARS AT WORK.

Two North Street Grocery Stores Entered, Last Night, and an Attempt Made on the Third.

About midnight, last night, an employe of the Co-operative store on North street, who lives up stairs over the store, thought he heard the sound of falling glass. Looking out of the front window he called to a passer-by, asking him to look into the store and see if any one was there. Of course the man said "no," but this morning it was found that burglars had broken a pane of glass in the rear door of the store and had gained entrance by unbolting the door. A careful search failed to show that any goods had been removed.

The burglars then went to the store of J. E. Scott, across the street, and broke a pane of glass in the transom over the front door. They were unable to reach the lock, however, and gave up the job.

The next place visited was the grocery store of Mr. Ira M. Corwin. Entrance was gained by breaking a pane of glass in the window of the butter room under the arch. The catch was unfastened and the window raised. The burglars were evidently in search of money, but failed to find any. It is thought that they got away with one or two pounds of tobacco in Mr. Corwin's store.

Physical Culture for Women and Children.

Mrs. M. L. Stewart is about to open a school of physical culture for women and children in Nearing Hall.

Ladies' classes will be instructed every Monday, at 3:30 p. m., and children's classes on Mondays and Thursdays, at 4:30. All branches of gymnastics suitable for women and children will be taught.

A Sullivan County Home for Consumptives.

Prof. Charles E. Quimby, of New York, recently visited Revonah Lake, near Liberty, Pleasant Lake, near Monticello, and Loch Sheldrake, with a view to selecting a site for a large home for consumptives, which it is proposed to erect in Sullivan county in the near future.

It May Do As Much for You.

Mr. Fred Miller, of Irving, Ill., writes that he had a severe Kidney trouble for many years, with severe pains in his back and also that his bladder was affected. He tried many so called kidney cures but without any good result. About a year ago he began use of Electric Bitters and found relief at once. Electric Bitters is especially adapted to the cure of all Kidney and liver troubles and often gives almost instant relief. One trial will prove our statement. Prices only 50c. for large bottle at McMonagle & Rogers Drug store.

OBITUARY.

James Doloway.

It is with sincere sorrow that we find ourselves called upon to announce the death of James Doloway one of the best known and most highly esteemed citizens of the agricultural community of this county, a resident of the town of Wallkill, near Fair Oaks.

Mr. Doloway was ripe in years, lacking but a few months of being an octogenarian.

Mr. Doloway's death occurred at 5 p. m., yesterday, and was due to injuries received in a runaway accident about two weeks ago.

He was a native of the town and for the past fifty-six years resided on the farm on which he died. He was a wonderfully well preserved man. He was in full possession of all his mental faculties and retained his physical powers to a remarkable degree. During the past summer he did a full share of the farm work, cradling rye and similar hard labor, that would test the strength of a much younger man.

Mr. Doloway had a happy disposition and always had a smile, a pleasant word and a hearty handshake for all his friends. He was honorble and upright in his intercourse with his fellow men, and although not a professed christian his life might well be emulated by many church members.

Mr. Doloway's wife died four years ago. He is survived by two sons and one daughter. The latter is the wife of DeWitt Derby. The sons are Albert, proprietor of the restaurant on James street, in this city, and James A., at home. He is also survived by his sister, Mrs. Sarah Jane Travis.

The funeral will take place at 10:30 a. m., Monday, at his late residence.

Patrick Flanagan.

Patrick Flanagan died very suddenly, yesterday, at his residence, One Hundred and Fifty-second street and Eighth avenue, New York, of heart disease. Deceased was in his sixty-third year.

He was formerly a resident of this city, having left here about fourteen years ago to engage in the business of contractor and builder in New York city.

Deceased is survived by eight children, his wife having died a little over a year ago.

The funeral will be held in this city, on Monday, upon the arrival of O. and W. train 1, at 10:45, with solemn requiem high mass at St. Joseph's Church. Interment in St. Joseph's Cemetery.

—There was a very pretty wedding at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Miller, of this place, Wednesday evening, when their daughter, Carrie A., was united in marriage to Mr. Bert Becraft. The bride was attired in a dress of white Bedford cord trimmed with lace and ribbon. The bridesmaid, Miss Emily Allen, looked very pretty in a dress of lavender crepe cloth with lace and ribbon trimmings. The best man was Mr. Chas. Knapp. Miss Helen May Miller, the little sister of the bride, and Miss E. Stuart, a little niece of the groom, acted as flower girls and were dressed in white with blue bow knots and carried a basket of carnations and smilax. The bride's bouquet was of white carnations and maiden hair ferns. The presents were numerous and very beautiful. A supper was served by the bride's mother. There were about forty persons present. The evening was spent in dancing and social intercourse.

"Why Is He So Irritable?"

This question is often heard and nearly as often unanswered.

It is not always remembered, as it should be, that the occasion of ill temper and irritability is often to be found in the physical condition of the persons affected. What is the use of trying to "harmonize" a man whose liver has gone back on him? If a man is tortured with rheumatism, how can he be expected to be affable and agreeable? Can a confirmed dyspeptic be expected to be cheerful and always ready to tell a funny story? The only way to remove the difficulty is to get at the cause. Dyspepsia, rheumatism, impure blood and liver troubles yield to Hood's Sarsaparilla; this is why it is an effective tranquilizer, a peaceful messenger, and a preventive of domestic quarrels.

For Over Fifty Years.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used by millions of mothers for their children while teething. If disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of Cutting Teeth send at once and get a bottle of "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup" for Children Teething. ECZEMA ON LIMBS

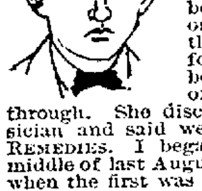
How a Missionary Suffered. Death Only Relief Expected. Speedily Cured by Cuticura.



I have been troubled with chronic Eczema on my limbs. The itching was very annoying and made me unfit for work. I had tried many remedies and consulted a good physician, who prescribed for me nine months with no permanent relief. I gradually grew worse and worse. Death would have been a relief, and it was the only relief I expected. Just then my wife (I thank God for a good one) found the book you sent in some out-of-the-way place and read it through. She discharged the attending physician and said we would try the CUTICURA REMEDIES. I began to use them about the middle of last August, procuring a new supply when the first was exhausted. I am now well and attend to my missionary work. I am Secretary of the Sullivan County Bible Society (portrait inclosed). Have been engaged in missionary work in the county for eighteen years. To recommend the CUTICURA REMEDIES to suffering humanity will be a part of my missionary work in the future.

CUTICURA WORKS WONDERS

The almost miraculous cures daily effected by the CUTICURA REMEDIES prove them to be the greatest skin cures, blood purifiers and humor remedies ever compounded. No statement is made regarding them not justified by the strongest evidence. People in every walk of life use them and recommend them. Their wonderful popularity and sale are due to the cures effected by them, and this is the most substantial evidence of their curative value. Sale greater than the combined sales of all other blood and skin remedies.

Sold throughout the world. Price, CUTICURA, 50c.; SOAP, 25c.; RESOLVENT, $1. POTTER DRUG AND CHEM. CORP., Sole Proprietors, Boston.

ANNUAL MEETING OF The Board of Supervisors.

OFFICE OF THE CLERK OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS,
ORANGE COUNTY, GOSHEN, N. Y.

Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the Board of Supervisors of Orange county will be held in their rooms in the county building, at Goshen, on WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER the 14TH, at 2 o'clock p. m.

All persons having bills or claims of any description against said county are hereby notified and required to deposit the same, properly made out, itemized and verified according to law, in a receptacle provided for that purpose, in the Orange County Clerk's office, on or before the third day of such meeting. In default, thereof, such bills or claims will not be audited at said annual meeting.

In order to secure the proper distribution of drafts for bills audited, claimants are required to endorse on their bills the name of the town in which they reside and their post-office address.

Bills presented by Justices or Constables for services in criminal proceedings, must state fully the nature of the crime committed by the person or persons apprehended or tried, so as to distinguish between felonies and misdemeanors.

Constables or any other officer making any charge for mileage shall state in their bills the points traveled to and from, together with the actual number of miles traveled. No bills for mileage can be allowed that are not so itemized.
